Dear David,

When I picked Malcom X up this morning to read a little more of it I was suddenly embarrassed.

When I saw the fine inscription I feard that in my usual haste I failed to thank you for it. I hope not but fear perhaps I did. If so, I'm truly sorry!

I do appreciate it, very much.

Susan Kaplan is mailing cards to announce the Vintage reprints of her aunt's book.

I got one today.

On another subject, our Keys, about whom I've informed you a bit on the chance ~~chanceei~~ it you of Jonathan, another sign of their popularity today.

Our dental hygienist, a young woman who also is very fond of the Oriental restaurant of our friends, while she was working on me said that perhaps tomorrow we could both be there at the same time if Lil and I are going there. We go early because I have to get to bed early. She and her friends generally get there after I'm asleep. tomorrow.

She has Keys season tickets and will dine before going there, perhaps 10 minutes from the restaurant.

Her friends also have seasons tickets and they are all young people.

They go as a party, I think.

If the money were available I think they'd soon be AA.

Hagerstown cannot afford to make the changes required and will lose its Class AA.

Owned by the same people who own the Keys.

My apologies and again my sincere thanks,
